What kind of place is Arima Onsen Taikou-no-yu?

Twenty-six different types of baths and “bedrock bathing”—a facility to savor the Kinsen (Gold) and Ginsen (Silver) waters that make Arima Onsen so special.

Kinsen:

Darkish-red spa waters rich in iron content. High in thermal insulation and moisturizing effects, with wide-ranging therapeutic properties.

Ginsen:

In direct contrast to Kinsen, the waters here are silky and translucent. Effects include accelerated metabolism and stimulated appetite.

● Open-Air Bath Zone

Take pleasure in the “Taikou Rock Bath” where the free-flowing hot spring waters of the Kinsen “Gold Spa” have been restored for the first time in 411 years, the Ginsen “Silver Spa,” a carbonated spring (man-made), and herbal bathing. Also captivating is the luxurious open-air stone sauna and footbath, offering the delights of Japan’s first “bedrock bathing and footbath” at the very same time!

● Kinsen and Ginsen Steam Bath Stone Sauna Zone

This steam bath stone sauna, where both Kinsen and Ginsen spa waters are transformed into steam flows, is truly unique to Taikou-no-yu. Donning the special stone sauna robes, both genders can relax together.

● Grand Bath Zone

A Japan first! Showcasing the “Golden Steam Bath,” where you can simultaneously enjoy the steam from both the Kinsen and Ginsen spring sources.

● Dining and Shopping

The complex contains restaurants, a food court and other dining facilities, together with an amusement arcade, concession stands, a lounge with reclining sofas, and other outstanding guest amenities.
